

ARCHAEOLOGY

Courses Open to Visiting Students
2024 – 25 academic year

Whether you have a background in archaeology or not, taking an archaeology course while you are in Galway is a great way to really broaden and enhance your overseas experience.

Semester One

First Year Modules

AR113 Prehistoric Ireland and Europe

AR1104 Material Culture & Museums

Second Year Modules

AR334 Ancient Civilizations (Mesopotamia, Egypt, Indus Valley, Mesoamerica)

AR246 Castles, Colonists & Crannógs, 1100-1350 AD

AR2103 Archaeology and Irish Identity

TI254 Space, Place and the Irish Landscape

Third Year Modules

AR343 Public Archaeology

AR3100 Metal, Warfare, and Chieftoms - The Bronze Age Roots of European Civilization

AR3104 Archaeological Post-excavation

Semester Two

First Year Modules

AR1105 Medieval Ireland & Europe

AR1102 Sites and Monuments in the Landscape

Second Year Modules

AR236 Interpretation in Archaeology

AR245 Archaeology in Practice

AR2106 Introduction to Excavation

Third Year Modules

AR2101 Early Kingship: From Chaos to Cosmos

AR3101 Landscape and Archaeology: Context and Practice

AR347 Palaeoecology – Reconstructing Past Environments

BSS2104 Introduction to Sustainability

For detailed descriptions and timetable information on all of these courses, please refer to the appropriate Student Handbook (1st, 2nd, or 3rd Year). These are available on the Archaeology Department website and also just on your right as you enter the Archaeology Department.

Once you have registered for a course it will appear on your Canvas dashboard. We use Canvas to distribute course materials and to communicate with students so be sure to logon to Canvas regularly.

We are ready to help you out, so contact us with any questions you may have:

- Visiting Student Liaison for Archaeology is Dr. Carleton Jones, carleton.jones@universityofgalway.ie (Dr. Jones has first-hand experience of the American, English, and Irish university systems).
- Our secretary, Fiona Mc Inerney may be contacted at fiona.mcinerney@nuigalway.ie between 9am to 1pm.

The courses open to visiting students are each worth 5 ECTS (European Credit Transfer System) credits and they do not have required prerequisites.

