European Convention on Human Rights: Law and Politics
LW5120

2026-2027 Course Outline

Objective	This module will introduce students to the key principles underpinning the European Convention on Human Rights and core tenets of the Strasbourg Court's case law, including areas of doctrinal tension and expansion, while examining current issues affecting the influence of the Convention and the Court on European legal and political systems.
Lecturer	Name Dr Edel Hughes	Office Hours Email for appointment	E-mail edel.hughes@universityofgalway.ie
Learning Outcomes	On successful completion of this module students will have: • Researched and discussed the procedures of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR); • Read, summarised the key facts and legal findings of, and critically appraised case law relating to several articles of the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR); • Demonstrated a clear understanding of the key underpinning principles, and the doctrinal development in a range of areas, of ECHR law; and • Communicated their critical analysis of the current position of ECHR law as it relates to an issue or set of issues arising in one or more European jurisdictions.

Please note, the easiest way to do a text search through HUDOC is to list the respondent (state) and by the main article involved, and then to search by date or alphabetically. The system does not always respond if you list the title so make sure to try a few ways.
Assessment	This module is assessed by way of a 5,000 word essay (excluding references and bibliography) for which a choice of titles will be provided.
